PROLOGUE

PROLOGUE, the debut collection by HANNA FIEDLER, creates timeless designs for women with environmentally friendly and ethical practices at their core. Traditional bespoke tailoring methods and modern techniques merge in PROLOGUE to form a capsule of 9 minimal, timeless women's garments.

Each design in the collection is manufactured in London in order to support local British suppliers and craftsmen, as well as to ensure uncompromising quality. The fabrics are made from carefully selected, environmentally-friendly materials^{1,2} from European mills. Local sourcing and production also minimises the label's carbon footprint.

For this collection, HANNA FIEDLER has participated in the Making For Change programme within Downview Prison, which equips women with training and professional skills and provides them with opportunities for reinsertion upon release.
